38. Best Practices of the institute:-

Managing an educational institute is a part of social service. The education society and management of the institute has a straight forward approach towards it. Dehgam is educationally as well as economically backward region. The students are coming from rural background but they are talented and capable to perform well in studies as well as extra curricular activities. To promote the student's academic, cultural, sports and other achievements in social services our institute provides rewards every year in form of various scholarships. This is given to the students on 26th January Prize distribution ceremony. This practice is going on since many years and has helped the students in many aspects. This has also encouraged the new comers. As a result of it, the students are showing keen interest in sports, cultural activities and studies. The institute is 40 years old and has developed rapidly and steadily during these years. It has earned the reputation of being the only institute imparting quality higher education in the taluka. The institute observes following best practices;

- PRAYER: Every day as the institute begins with a prayer which is conducted through a centralized mike system in the building. All the students along with the teacher in-charge stand up and join the prayer.
- SCHOLARSHIPS: financial assistance to the economically backward and weaker students is provided by the trustees of the institute on the regular basis.
- REMEDIAL CLASSES: Remedial lectures are arranged in the regular time table during the zero period for not only the economically and socially backward students but also for the slow learners. This practice not only helps such students to cope up with the syllabus but also to boost up their morale.

- LENDING THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM AND PREMISES: Since the institute is one of the most reputed and well developed unit in the region, it is also endowed with a systematic infrastructure. The biggest asset among this is the Auditorium built in the 725.330 sq. mtr. area with the expenditure of Rs.55 lakhs. This Auditorium is not only used for all the college function and extracurricular activities but also indispensably lent to the other social bodies and clubs like Youth club, Rotary club and the Govt. offices. It is a credit to the college.
- Other than this the college premises is also used by the local governing authorities for the elections.

The infrastructure and learning resources are integral components of any effective learning process. The methods in vogue should be adopted/ adapted by all the institutes to solve this purpose. Following innovations are undertaken by the institute;

- Building the most well equipped and modernized centre for interactive learning (auditorium) for extension activities in the year 2005.
- Arrangement of visual shows for the students through DVDs and CDs apart from the live shows for DBAOU students.

For the T.Y. B. A. students of Hindi, for better exposure of literature, screening of some plays (Suraj ka saatwa ghoda) and stage performances has also been organized since last year.

Apart from imparting teaching in classrooms we promote the learners for assignment almost all the departments follow this practice. The learners are asked to complete the assignments and show it to the concerning subject teacher. This helps the learners to prepare for the examination and keep them away with the unauthentic guides available in the market.

The final year students are also encouraged to prepare their paper for the departmental seminars. The topics are allotted by the teachers to the students and they are asked to present the paper in presence of all the students and subject teachers. This inculcates presentation skill among the learners.

39. Linkages developed with:-

Yes, the institution has recently signed MoUs with the other agencies Like IIHT-Gandhinagar, AMA, Ahmedabad for job Placement and Extension activities.

The documents for such activities are kept and the learners are motivated to appear in such interviews.

- A training seminar is also organised before Job Fair to develop the learners and encourage the learners to learn the attitude, target, skill to work in the corporate world.
- A alumni association is also formed in the college to link the present students to the past students. They also help the present students in finding job opportunities.

DEHGAM TALUKA EDUCATION SOCIETY: THE EPITOME OF EDUCATION

1961: This epitome of enlightenment was propounded by the Dehgam Taluka Education Society when there was a vacuum for the facility of higher education institute that could render services in the field. The motto of the society was to access the youth with a perennial source of scholastic study and multifarious activities for the growth and development in each and every field of life. Shri Vithhalbhai P.Amin, the pioneer of the institute and an astute businessman and public leader of Gujarat had established Shri M.B.College of Commerce and Shri G.M.N. Arts College in a rented building with his rigorous efforts in 1966. With his continuous guidance and impeccable vision, he succeeded in constructing a beautiful educational institute in 1968. Within the short span of time, the college has grown up in lush green atmosphere with a well furnished and well equipped Library named as Purshottamdas Jivabhai Amin. This library comprises a huge Reading hall for the teachers and students, apart from Maniben Tribhovandas Hostel and staff quarters.

1983: Shri Mangalbhai Patel, an eminent and adroit administrator in Income tax department of India has wielded the charge as President of the society. It is his advanced vision and prudent decision that has resulted into plush flow of funds and sound fiscal fitness to the institution. To add vibrancy to the campus and to meet the requirement for conducting cultural activities he erected an open air Rang bhavan named as Kamlaben Ambalal Amin Rang manch.

A MODEL INSTITUTE FOR COMPUTER SCIENCE

1985: The year 1985 witnessed a sudden urge to develop a well equipped computer center to meet the rapid technological advancement. This has resulted into the construction of a separate building named as Ravjibhai H. Desai Computer House with the donation of a well-known, Pune based industrialist, Desai Brothers. Today many short term diploma and certificate courses of computer are successfully running in the computer house.

FURTHER WIDENING HORIZONS OF EDUCATION

Taking cognizance of the time and accomplishing the need to furnish the institute with advanced techniques of teaching and learning through audio visual tools and communication as well as by conducting seminars and workshops, Shri Ratibhai C.Patel and his family (U.S.A) donated for erecting Gitaben Patel Center for Interactive Learning. The foundation stone of the center was laid on 13th August,2004 and was inaugurated by Union textile minister Shri Shankarsinh Waghela on the auspicious day of Vijayadashmi, in the year 2005. The auditorium has enabled us to keep pace with ever widening educational flow. This has a capacity of around 450 seats and will be a place for various conferences, seminars and cultural programmes.

(Bachelor of computer application) by IGNOU, New Delhi. The first batch comprises 20 students and 18 students have enrolled for the first semester this year.

38. Best Practices of the institute:-

Managing an educational institute is a part of social service. The education society and management of the institute has a straight forward approach towards it. Dehgam is educationally as well as economically backward region. The students are coming from rural background but they are talented and capable to perform well in studies as well as extra curricular activities. To promote the student's academic, cultural, sports and other achievements in social services our institute provides rewards every year in form of various scholarships. This is given to the students on 26th January Prize distribution ceremony. This practice is going on since many years and has helped the students in many aspects. This has also encouraged the new comers. As a result of it, the students are showing keen interest in sports, cultural activities and studies. The institute is 40 years old and has developed rapidly and steadily during these years. It has earned the reputation of being the only institute imparting quality higher education in the taluka. The institute observes following best practices;

- PRAYER: Every day as the institute begins with a prayer which is conducted through a centralized mike system in the building. All the students along with the teacher in-charge stand up and join the prayer.
- SCHOLARSHIPS: financial assistance to the economically backward and weaker students is provided by the trustees of the institute on the regular basis.
- REMEDIAL CLASSES: Remedial lectures are arranged apart from the regular time table after the college hours for not only the economically and socially backward students but also for the slow learners. This practice not only helps such students to cope up with the syllabus but also to boost up their morale.
- LENDING THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM AND PREMISES: Since the institute is one of the most reputed and well developed unit in the region, it is also endowed with a systematic infrastructure. The biggest asset among this is the Auditorium built in the 725.330 sq. mtr. area with the expenditure of Rs.55 lakhs. This Auditorium is not only used for all the college function and extracurricular activities but also indispensably lent to the other social bodies and clubs like Youth club, Rotary club and the Govt. offices. It is a credit to the college.
- Other than this the college premises is also used by the local governing authorities for the elections.

The infrastructure and learning resources are integral components of any effective learning process. The methods in vogue should be adopted/adapted by all the institutes to solve this purpose. Following innovations are undertaken by the institute;

- Building the most well equipped and modernized centre for interactive learning (auditorium) for extension activities in the year 2005.
- Arrangement of visual shows for the students through DVDs and CDs apart from the live shows for DBAOU students.

For the T.Y. B. A. students of Hindi, for better exposure of literature, screening of some plays (Suraj ka saatwa ghoda) and stage performances has also been organized since last year.

Apart from imparting teaching in classrooms we promote the learners for assignment almost all the department follow this practice. The learners are asked to complete the assignments and show it to the concerning subject teacher. This helps the learners to prepare for the examination and keep them away with the unauthentic guides available in the market.

The final year students are also encouraged to prepare their paper for the departmental seminars. The topics are allotted by the teachers to the students and they are asked to present the paper in presence of all the students and subject teachers. This inculcates presentation skill among the learners.

39. Linkages developed with:- The institution has recently signed MoUs with the Muktajivan Disaster Management Academy ahemdabad and IIHT Gandhinagar, AMA, Ahmedabad for job Placement and Extension activities.

28	Best Practices of the College (A) BEST PRCTICES IN CURICULAR ASPECT.	The curriculum of any educational discipline doesn't imply only syllabus teaching. It is also reflected in the overall daily activities of the institute. One such noble act observed daily in the college is PRAYER. Every day in the college begins with prayer which is recited along with a common network of sound system which joins every class room. This practice is strictly and religiously observed everyday and managed by the discipline committee. Apart from offering major subjects at U.G. level, introduction of self-financed Main English subject at U.G. level is the best practice in this aspect. Though the affiliation is given on self-financed basis, our institute doesn't charge the fees which other self-financed institutes charge. Instead, the regular fee recommended by the University is charged from the students and all the expenses

	(B) BEST PRACTICES IN TEACHING AND LEARNING	of such students are born by the college management. This is practiced keeping into mind the socio-economic background of the learner of the Taluka. To opt for this subject learners of our Taluka have to go to other colleges so our management decided to run the course by charging regular fees which is affordable to the learners of this backward area. Apart from imparting teaching in classrooms we promote the learners for assignment almost all the department follow this practice.
